GRAND AUCTION SALE OF LOTS, Tuesday, June 24, 1890.

Including some of the most desirable business and residence lots in the town. Iron Gate, Va., is situated at the headwaters of James River, 1,200 feet above sea level, and in a climate famed for healthfulness. On line of James River Division, Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, one and one-half miles south of Clifton Forge.

Property is not at fancy figures. No investor has ever lost a dollar in Iron Gate. All have made money. The handsomest and most attractive portion of the place will be put on the market for the first time on Tuesday, June 24th. Special rates on Chesapeake and Ohio and all connecting lines.

Terms of sale: One-fourth cash; balance in equal installments at 6, 12, and 18 months, with interest, the purchaser giving deed of trust as ultimate security. Full paid stock received in payment of lots at a premium of 50 per cent. Remember the day and date—TUESDAY, JUNE 24th, 1890. For further particulars, circulars, etc., address IRON GATE LAND AND IMPROVEMENT CO., or WEST IRON GATE LAND CO., Iron Gate, Va. June 11, 190.

Buy a Lot in Fairview Cemetery.

At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the

FAIRVIEW CEMETERY COMPANY,

It was decided to put their lots on the market at once. As I was appointed agent for the sale of these lots, I will take great pleasure in taking my friends and the public, at any time, to see them. The company has recently, at considerable cost, improved and beautified the grounds, which makes it one of the handsomest cemeteries in the city.

Parties purchasing prior to the 1st of September will be allowed a discount of 10 per cent.

TEAMS ALWAYS READY.

THE HOTEL MAN.

WHAT HE FINDS OF INTEREST

TO WRITE ABOUT.

SKETCHES IN LOBBY AND ON PORGE

Pungent Personalities of Prominent People Hushed up for Curious Readers—Senator John Sherman, Editor Roanoke—And So Does Everyone.

Miss Fannie Leckie and Mr. Charles T. Wilson were married in Lynchburg yesterday.

Mr. Harry M. Wood and wife will leave today to spend several weeks in Montgomery.

Misses Fannie and Emma Jefferson, of Danville, are in the city; the guest of Miss Holman Kinsey.

The family of Dr. J. W. Davis, editor of the Evening World, left yesterday for a visit to Richmond.

One of the employees of the grinding room of the machine works was painfully hurt by getting caught between a grindstone and a pillar.

Twenty car loads of sheep passed the city yesterday over the Norfolk and Western railroad, en route to the Northern markets.

ABOUT THE HOTELS.

During the week Senator John Sherman was in the city and took a drive about Roanoke and looked into our principal industries. Within the past few years the opinions of Sherman regarding the South have undergone a decided change and he is no longer the bloody shirt waving the Union flag.

He has left the school of Foraker, Halstead & Co. and believes sincerely that the New South is the coming section of the country. The Senator was much pleased with Roanoke. He has always been interested in real estate and owns in Washington alone property of the value of two millions in money, but he wouldn't say whether he intended to invest here or not. John Sherman is one of that very rare class of men who know how to keep their own counsel.

Allan Towson, one of the bright young men who are making the Sunday Herald, of Washington, one of the most successful periodicals in the country, was in the Hotel Roanoke yesterday. Towson wears a flannel shirt and a big sash, but he is a talented, notwithstanding, and is one of the cleverest writers as well as a business man at the capital. He is delighted with Roanoke and says that it offers better inducements to young men than any section that he is acquainted with. And he is acquainted with not a few.

Arthur Smith stopped over in Roanoke yesterday for a few hours. He was on his way to Knoxville where he goes to accept the position of managing editor on the Journal. Smith has often been in Roanoke and has a good many friends here who were glad to see him. He says he intends to push things in Knoxville as those who know him will not doubt his ability to do it.

J. E. M. Wright, as whole souled a ever was in town again yesterday in spite of the oppressive hot weather. He is a chock full of good stories, gathered during his recent Western tour. When you meet him, as you are at some time almost certain to do, ask him to tell you the Whop story and how the Arkansas traveler originated. It will make you roar with laughter and give you an appetite for dinner.

Wright is known as the "Working Man's Friend" all over the South. Why he is called so, he doesn't know.

Within the past few years immense progress has been made in the service of educating deaf mutes and Virginians has an institution at Staunton that stands second to none in the country with perhaps the single exception of Kendall Green, at Washington.

The superintendent, Dr. Floyd, was in the city yesterday. Many of his old pupils reside here, and for a time he held quite a reception. Dr. Floyd is a stout gentleman, with iron grey moustache, and he can talk just as well by the use of his fingers as with his mouth. He is a teller of good stories, and is about as merry as they make 'em.

A Woman at the Old House Auction.

I was over at an auction sale of old books the other day. The auctioneer held up a dusty volume which from the title was worth about ten cents and asked the usual question, "How much?"

A woman in the crowd said "Fifty cents."

The auctioneer began crying fifty cents, wanting to know if he heard "the sixty." As he asked the question his eyes accidentally turned toward the bidder and she nodded. The auctioneer began crying sixty cents and wanted to know if he heard "the seventy."

The woman nodded and the auctioneer took the bid and cried "seventy cents, do I hear the eighty?" The woman nodded again. This kept up till the woman had run her bid up to $2.50. The auctioneer then asked her name, whereupon she said, "Sold to Mrs. — for fifty cents," whereat the crowd roared, but the poor woman didn't seem to know what the meaning. She paid her fifty cents, tucked the book under her shawl, and went out.—Chicago Tribune.

How Savages Poison Their Arrows.

Where do these savages get this atrocious poison and what does it consist of? They get it from their own flesh and blood, and it consists of nothing but the fluids of the human body. When they want a supply of poisoned weapons they take a number of corpses after a battle, or they kill a number of prisoners expressly, and having left the bodies to rot in the burning equatorial sun for some days, they stick them full of spears and arrow heads, which they leave there for weeks or months, or until the bodies are entirely dried up. That is the whole process. When those spears and arrows are drawn out, they are imperishably steeped in poison as deadly as that of Echys carinata or deadly— a poison which is absolutely destructive of the life of every creature whose blood it touches.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Remarkable Suicide.

One of the most remarkable suicides recorded in the annals of self destruction occurred near Chiquet, N. B. Before committing the deed, N. B. Jones, a 35-year-old man, had been married and had a family of four children, but he had been driven to this desperate act by poverty and despair.

He was found by a neighbor, who called him out, and he was taken to the hospital, where he died within a few hours. The cause of his death was found to be a large quantity of poison which he had taken.

The police are now investigating the case, and it is believed that the man was driven to this desperate act by poverty and despair.

GLADE ADDITION.

A Beautiful and Convenient Location for Buildings.

No city in the South has grown with greater rapidity than has Roanoke, and probably not one is on a firmer foundation considering its age. Roanoke swells and grows each day, and the population does not grow in any one direction more than another, but is being rapidly built up on every side, north, east, south and west. The influx of population since 1884 has been enormous, and hundreds of buildings have gone up to supply the demand. There has been no full in the erection of houses this winter, except that occasioned by the rain, and drive in what direction, you will hear the sound of the hammer and evidence of building meet your eye. Hundreds who rented houses a few years ago pay taxes now, owning their dwellings, and the erection of residences is the best index to the growth of the city and the strongest assurance that the city is here to stay.

The houses that have been built here within the past year are, many of them, as handsome, artistic and expensive as can be found anywhere. To accommodate the ever increasing population, numerous additions have been made off and on the place of the market. Among the many valuable properties hereabouts, none of the finer inducements as a place of residence than the Glade addition.

This property is situated just east of Glade creek and is bounded by the Vinton extension of the Roanoke street railway, which places it in direct communication with the central portion of the city, a person can live in that section, and if his place of business is in the upper part of the city, or even in the West End, he can take the street car and be ready for the day's work at the usual time. Every benefit of suburban residence is obtained, without any of its discomforts.

The property is well drained and therefore healthy. It has been divided into lots by the laying off of wide streets and avenues. The view to be obtained from Glade addition is beautiful. On the east, towering hundreds of feet in the air, are the Blue Ridge mountains, while on the south the Roanoke river winds like a silver thread among the hills forming one of the most beautiful bits of scenery anywhere in Southwest Virginia. One of the principal features about the Glade property is the easy terms upon which the lots can be gotten. The prices have been placed so low that it is within the power of every man to own his home.

Messrs. William M. Yager & Co. are agents for the company and they will take pleasure in giving any information concerning the property. Call on them at their office on South Jefferson street.

Marshall's Cafe—For a full course dinner served in a 1st style daily from 1 to 3 for 50 cents. ap5-tf

EAST END ADDITION.

Desirability of and Demands for Lots There.

As the summer advances much activity in building operations is noticed, and many new houses are in process of construction. This naturally makes the real estate market much firmer, and agents are correspondingly busy. Simmons & Co. have been doing a rushing business one of the best since the firm was established. The East End property is changing hands very rapidly, and many new houses will be erected this season.

Among the prominent additions in the East End, is that of the Oak Ridge Land Company. The addition lies just east of Belmont and south of the East Side Land Company's property and adjoins the farm of Messrs. George Taylor and G. W. Carr.

This offers every inducement as a place of residence. It is removed from the business portion of the city and therefore gives a quiet, suburban home while at the same time it is near the dummy line and therefore quite convenient to the city.

The land is high and dry and has just enough slope to give it good drainage. Gas and water mains are being put in and new streets are being laid out. Everything is propitious, and it is destined to take its proper place in the front rank. It is located near the furnace, rolling mill bridge works and the machine works and offers, therefore, greater inducements to the workman, as it is near his work. A number of neat cottages are going up and others have been contracted for.

James S. Simmons & Co. are agents for the company, and they can give good reasons. The property is going rapidly, and if you want to obtain a good bargain call on them at once. The prices for the lots are low and the terms easy, so every man can own his own home.

Fifty men employed. $400 per week paid for labor, cash every Saturday, distributed amongst the men. Such enterprises add much to the growth and prosperity of our city.

The Bridgewater Carriage Company's factory is the place this is done. We are prepared to furnish at short notice, any kind of carriage, buggy or wagon desired and carry in stock a full and large assortment of superior grades.

We want every lady to come and look, to see what can be done in the way of starting a carriage factory in so short a time. Your help and patronage will make this an enterprise which you will be proud. Our prices are rock bottom. We will look for all of you to call, not in one day, but as you can make it convenient.
